Top ban-Anna!

MUSWELL Hill schoolgirl Anna Bauss is celebrating after being crowned Top Banana in a national competition for word wizards.

The nine-year-old proved the best of the bunch despite being the youngest of the 12 finalists in the Bananagrams Challenge held at the Magic Circle in central London.

The popular game, in which youngsters re-arrange letters to make words, is used by schools to improve literacy skills.

Anna, a pupil at Rhodes Avenue Primary School, Wood Green, demonstrated her prowess by beating 25,000 pupils to reach the final and then blowing her rivals away in the nail-biting climax to the competition.

"I didn't think I would win, I just treated the final as a fun day out, but I did and it's amazing," she said.

"I'd never played the game before my school started running the Bananagrams challenge at lunchtimes, but I really love it and I prepared for the final by learning lots of two-letter words.

"All my friends have been really supportive and they wanted to hear all about it when I returned to school," she added.

Anna's triumph won her school £1,000, presented by the inventor of the anagram game, Rena Nathanson, as well as a trophy and a Bananagrams goody bag.

Trip back in time: The Queen during her visit to Wood Green 35 years ago

Remembering a right Royal visitor

THE unluckiest date in the calendar might unsettle the superstitious among us, but not the Queen.

This forthcoming Friday is Friday the 13th and on the corresponding day 35 years ago the Queen officially opened Wood Green Shopping Mall.

To mark its birthday, the shopping centre in Wood Green High Road is staging a variety of attractions.

Since its opening, the retail complex has witnessed its fair share of incidents surviving two IRA bombs which blew out windows in 1992 as well as the infamous London riots in 2011.

Residents are being invited to commemorate its birthday at a cake-cutting ceremony in the afternoon performed by Haringey's mayor.

Throughout the day free cupcakes are being given to shoppers courtesy of Eliza's Kitchen, located in the market hall.

The festivities continue from 11.30am on Saturday when "special friends" of the mall will pop by to celebrate the milestone by surprising shoppers with a secret treat.

"We have some retailers from the market hall who remember the mall being opened by the Queen," said general manager Michael Thompson.

PATIENTS' REVOLT

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

PATIENTS at a doctors' surgery where Wood Green residents have been treated for more than 60 years are fighting to save it.

The surgery in a two-storey terraced house in Westbury Avenue has more than 3,500 patients on its register.

Its future is in doubt after the JS medical group practice – which it became part of six months ago – submitted proposals to NHS England to shut it.

The premises, it says, are unsuitable to deliver the high quality of care and range of services it provides at its two other modern, purpose-built sites in the borough.

More than 600 patients at the Westbury Avenue surgery have signed a petition complaining that closure would cause hardship and distress for elderly and disabled patients and those with small children, whom it would have to relocate to the other practices, or find a new doctor.

Wheelchair-bound Sylvia Waithe, 72, a patient for 22 years, said: "The surgery is a quarter of a mile from my home in Willow Walk.

"Their other surgeries are a mile away in Philip Lane, Tottenham, and two miles away in Park Lane, Northumberland Park."

Pharmacist Imal Shah, from the Savemore Pharmacy, in Westbury Avenue, helped organise the petition. He claimed many patients were unaware of the intended closure so could not voice objections or challenge it.

Haringey Clinical Commissioning Group, the body which commissions GP services in the borough and monitors their delivery, said the case for closing the surgery would be considered by NHS England's joint co-commissioning committee in July with an eight-week consultation about to get under way.

Dr Jyotindra Pandya, head of the JS medical group practice, said that all 3,500 patients were being written to.

"It's about delivering better patient care in a cost effective way," he said.

The current premises restricted increasing services, he explained, because the ground floor was occupied by doctors and a community nurse while the upper floors had no access for the disabled and could only be reached by stairs.

"I would have liked to have introduced in-house psychiatric counselling and expanded services similar to those at our other practices," added Dr Pandya.

"If closure is approved, patients have the option to re-locate to our other practices, which offer an expanded range of services along with extended opening hours and more female doctors," he added.

Railway murderer gets life sentence

A MAN who beat to death another man on crutches and hid his body in a railway underpass was jailed for life on Friday.

Kamil Czarnomski, 23, of no fixed address, had admitted the murder of fellow Polish national Pawel Chawalinski 35, whose body was found concealed beneath a sleeping bag and bicycle frame in the underpass off Park View Road, Tottenham, on November 17 last year.

Czarnomski was jailed for a minimum of 17-and-a-half years at the Old Bailey after a special two-day hearing to establish length of sentence.

The victim, who was on crutches having broken a leg, had been known to Czarnomski.

His body was found with head and neck injuries after Czarnomski had assaulted him near the underpass on November 16.

ENFIELD and Haringey overwhelmingly backed Sadiq Khan for Mayor of London last week.

The constituency, which elected Labour's Joanne McCartney as its London Assembly Member, also put Mr Khan out in front of the polls.

In the Enfield and Haringey constituency, Mr Khan secured 87,946 of first preference votes and 27,745 of second preferences.

His nearest rival, Conservative Zac

Goldsmith, polled about half of Mr Khan's votes, securing just 45,069 first preference votes in the constituency.

Both candidates had visited the borough on the campaign trail, with Mr Goldsmith seemingly keen to capture the hearts of suburban voters with pledges on parking, flytipping and caution over cycle schemes – key topics close to the hearts of many Enfield Conservatives.

Enfield North's former Tory MP Nick de Bois was chairman of Mr Goldsmith's campaign, which became mired in controversy with the candidate's repeated references to his rival's religion and repeated attempts to link him to Islamic extremists.

On Friday night, Mr de Bois's Twitter account was deleted and in a post on Facebook he said: "Right – I did it. I have taken a long Twitter holiday and will use Facebook from now on..."

In Mr Khan's official acceptance speech in the early hours of Saturday morning, he said that his election had been a "triumph of hope over hate" and added: "My dad would be so proud that the city he chose to call home has chosen one of his children to be mayor."

Leading the way: Jeremy Corbyn joined the celebrations at Alexandra Park

Labour basks in the sunshine

ON the hottest day of the year so far, the sun blazed through the glass ceiling of Alexandra Palace's palm court – turning the main foyer of the 19th-century building into an oven.

While staff tried to ignore the lure of Alexandra Park in the sunshine, they fed ballot papers into scanners and counting machines.

Journalists and election agents milling through the foyer watched as the blue lines signifying the progress of the count quickly lengthened in Labour's favour as the afternoon wore on.

The great hall itself was filled with an industrious buzz of tense whisperings between agents and debates over the legitimacy of spoiled ballots.

With the sun beating down on the grounds of the palace, in the count centre, where votes were being tallied for constituencies across north London, the sunniest dispositions were those of the Labour candidates and their allies.

With big wins for Enfield and Haringey's Joanne McCartney, Barnet and Camden's Andrew Dismore and Jennette Arnold for North East London, and with their man Sadiq Khan emerging as the frontrunner in the mayoral race early on, the Labour camp were in buoyant mood.

"It's as it should be," a jovial Enfield Council leader Doug Taylor told the Advertiser, commenting on the success of Joanne McCartney and Sadiq Khan.

He must have been relieved in part that Enfield avoided the controversy of their neighbouring borough's election day when wrong electoral registers were mistakenly delivered to polling stations in Barnet.

In the hothouse that the palm court became, just after 4.30pm with microphones set up and cameras trained on the podium under the tropical palms, it became clear that the victors were due to be formally declared.

Joanne McCartney praised her campaign team and thanked her supporters for turning out in their droves. Somehow no-one was overcome and fainted in the sultry heat – not even when Labour Party leader Jeremy Corbyn arrived to congratulate his team on their successes.

McCartney makes it four successive wins

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

JOANNE McCartney has held on to the constituency of Enfield and Haringey in the London Assembly with a decisive win, bagging 54 per cent of the vote.

This was her fourth victory in a row after first being elected to the assembly in 2004.

She won with 91,075 votes, beating her nearest rival, the Conservatives' Linda Kelly, by 51,152 votes.

Speaking to the Advertiser on Friday afternoon, when it became clear that no other candidate was within touching distance of winning, she said that the Labour campaign in the constituency showed what was possible when activists, members and voters mobilised.

"Labour Party supporters and activists have waged a fantastic campaign that I am very proud of," she said.

From the outset at the count in Alexandra Palace, Ms McCartney dominated the polls – with a sizeable lead over her Conservative rival emerging early in the process.

By the halfway stage she was way out in front – and as her lead continued to grow during the afternoon, the runners and riders in the City Hall race were in philosophical mood.

Mrs Kelly, who was behind throughout the day, told the Advertiser that she was pleased with what she termed "a good second place", adding that she was pleased with the campaign the Tories had run in Enfield and Haringey.

Ted Smith, the Enfield Council Conservative group's spokesman on housing, told the Advertiser that when he campaigned with Zac Goldsmith in Enfield Southgate he had received very positive feedback from residents.

"It is just a shame that wasn't reflected across the capital," he added.

ANNE MARIE SANDERSON

Re-elected: Joanne McCartney is surrounded by jubilant supporters

Voter turnout in the London elections was 45 per cent – up seven per cent from the elections four years ago.

Former mayor's fury after being denied a vote

A FORMER mayor of Enfield was outraged when she arrived at a polling station only to be told she could not vote as her name was not on the electoral roll.

Jayne Buckland, who was mayor in 2010, told the Advertiser she was told she was not on the list of registered voters at a polling station in Enfield Town.

She went straight to the civic centre, in Silver Street, Enfield.

"I was told they had sent me five letters which I hadn't answered," she said. "Absolutely wrong. I received no letters about eligibility to vote."

She said she was aware the rules had changed lately and she had been registered to vote at her address since 2009.

However, council bosses have pointed out that because of changes in how electoral registers are compiled, Ms Buckland was written to six times between July 2014 and October 2015.

They have a record that at least one of these letters was hand-delivered to her door. The council still did not hear from her, so she was written to again in November last year warning her that immediate action was needed if she wanted to vote in the elections.

"Ms Buckland did not get in touch with the council regarding this matter and her name was removed from the electoral roll," said a council spokesman.

A polling card was hand-delivered to her property over the Easter weekend, pointing out that no one at the address was registered to vote.

The spokesman added: "The card provided advice on how to register and giving the deadline for application for registration as Monday, April 18. The poll card was marked to the address, not the individual."

"Once again no application to vote was made and Ms Buckland was therefore legally incapable of voting in the most recent election. Our view is that we made all reasonable effort to encourage Ms Buckland to vote and she is ultimately responsible for ensuring that her voter registration is up to date."

Young revellers go nuts in May

By Clare Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

REVELLERS dressed as butterflies, ladybirds and caterpillars paraded through the grounds of Forty Hall to mark the end of the Butterfly Ball.

The event, held on Sunday, was a one-day family festival to raise money for the conservation of the magnificent park, organised by the Friends of Forty Hall.

Children enjoyed workshops making bees, dragonflies and other mini-beasts using a range of natural and recycled materials.

There was live music and loads of workshops for young and old.

Kerrie Bullen, of Funky Festival Company, which ran the event, said: "It was a huge success, the weather was absolutely glorious, it couldn't have been better."

"People really entered into the spirit of it."

"The highlight of the day was the caterpillar parade where everyone walked through the grounds to the ball, and then there was an hour of games and music and dancing."

The Friends have yet to announce the final sum raised, but have already said they will run the event again.

The same company will be back at Forty Hall on July 2 and 3 for Come Away with the Faeries, a two-day family festival.

ADVERTORIAL

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 25 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Enfield, Edmonton, Palmers Green, Winchmore Hill & Southgate areas and manager Richard Power agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

Missing for more than two weeks: School friends Mariam Mohamed, Ikhra Jaal and Alwiye Nureni have not been seen since April 24

Hunt goes on for girls, 17

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

MYSTERY surrounds the disappearance of a schoolgirl from Enfield who has been missing with two friends for more than two weeks.

Mariam Mohamed, 17, was last seen on Sunday, April 24, the day she vanished with fellow school pals Ikhra Jaal, 17, from Tottenham, and Alwiye Hassan Nureni, also 17.

Police have launched an appeal for the public's help to find the whereabouts of the three teenagers. Officers have discounted the possibility that they may have been radicalised and travelled to Syria.

They say they understand the girls had been planning to go away and believe they have spent the past fortnight in the Newport and Cardiff areas of south Wales. They may now be in the Camden area of London.

The three are all students at Leyton Sixth Form College, in Waltham Forest.

Mariam was last seen by her mother at midday on April 24. She did not tell her mother where she was going. Ikhra told her mother she was visiting Wood Green Library and Alwiye told her mother she was going to Stratford, in east London.

Mariam is described as black, 5ft 5ins tall and of slim build. She was wearing a black head scarf, black jacket, white top and black skirt and was carrying a black, medium-sized handbag.

Ikhra is described as a black, 5ft 7ins tall and of medium build.

She usually wears a grey head scarf. When last seen, she was wearing a black jacket, a black T-shirt, a blue skirt and grey trainers. She was last seen at 1pm on April 24.

Alwiye is described as a black, about 5ft 7ins tall and of slim build.

She was last seen wearing a grey hooded sweatshirt, dark blue jeans and white trainers.

"She may have taken a few items of clothing with her in a small shoulder bag," said a police spokesman.

"Anyone who may have information or knows of their whereabouts is asked to call police on 101," he added.

Cyclist is seriously injured in collision with van

A CYCLIST is fighting for his life following a collision with a tipper van on the North Circular Road.

Detectives are appealing for witnesses to the collision that happened at 11.30am on Sunday on the westbound carriage of the A406 Bowes Road, near the junction with Brownlow Road.

The cyclist, a 20-year-old man, was taken to an east London hospital and his injuries are described as life-threatening.

The driver of the van stopped at the scene and helped police with their inquiries. He was not arrested.

Detectives from the Serious Collision Unit are investigating.

Anyone with information or who witnessed the collision is being asked to call 020 8597 4874.

Developers outline their mansion vision – but questions remain

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE developers behind a plan to transform a former university campus into a luxury housing development have pledged their commitment to preserving the historic character of the site.

Berkeley Housing Group bought the former Middlesex University campus in Trent Park last year and are planning on knocking down the outbuildings which were erected in the 1960s and 1970s and recreating the original grounds around the mansion house in Trent Park – restoring them to how they looked in the days of Philip Sassoon, who bought the mansion in 1909.

Leading the Advertiser on a tour of the house and grounds, John Murdoch, landscape architect in charge of the project, explained that the team was hoping to recreate the original vista that the playboy millionaire would have looked out on and will be clearing trees and foliage from the grounds to give future residents of the development a clear view across the lake to the north of the mansion and out over the rest of Trent Park.

The planned development has been subject to controversy after Conservative ward councillor for Cockfosters Jason Charalambous launched a petition, which has since attracted more than 3,000 signatures, calling for the developers to retain the house as a museum open to the public, due to its significance in World War II when secret agents bugged the house and listened to conversations among the prisoners of war who held there.

Although the developers have pledged to retain a dedicated museum section of the mansion, they have not yet outlined how much of the house will be reserved and transformed into a museum.

One aspect of the house that they may be under pressure to preserve is the Listening Room, deep in the damp and cramped cellars, where wires from every room led – allowing translators and spies to record the intrigues that passed between Nazi officers.

But the house's recent history does not begin and end with its role in winning the war.

The mansion, which commands views over the rolling acres of Trent Park, was bought by Mr Sassoon at the turn of the 20th century.

The millionaire was considered a sort of British Gatsby – renowned for hosting huge parties – and he lavished time, attention and money on his home, fitting out ballrooms with Chinese silk copies of rare tapestries he saw in the V&A museum and installing a heated swimming pool beside his ground-floor bedroom.

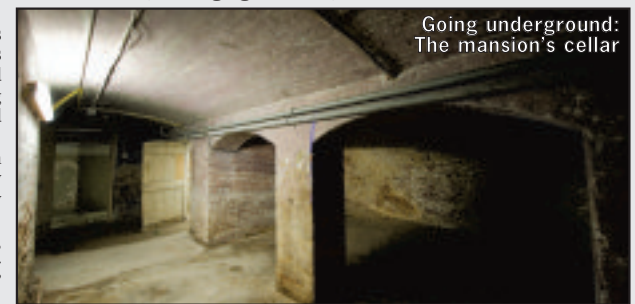

The swimming pool that was used by the public and students when the university owned the property, is another interesting aspect of the development.

In a briefing about the developer's plans for the site, Berkeley Homes managing director Piers Clanford said that they were committed to restoring the open air pool, which is a listed building structure.

However, he would not be drawn on whether it would be exclusively reserved for the residents of the luxury flats on the site.

"We are going to look at options, but there might be some special occasions where everyone could enjoy it," he said.

Renewed effort to urge Turkish smokers to quit

By Clare Casey
newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

SMOKING among Enfield's Turkish community is three times higher than the national average, according to research dubbed "very worrying".

Young people with a Turkish background take up smoking earlier than the Enfield average, smoke more and are more likely to smoke alternative forms of tobacco.

This is in contrast to the borough as a whole, where just over 13 per cent of adults now smoke.

A spokeswoman for Enfield Council said that even more worrying were some of the myths uncovered about shisha tobacco with some believing that it was not tobacco and not realising that shisha smoking has been estimated as being the equivalent of smoking 20 cigarettes.

To help combat the problem, the council is running a conference on Saturday, May 21, to highlight the dangers of smoking and tobacco use and to support the Turkish community to quit.

Dr Mick Ozkar, consultant cardiologist at North Middlesex University Hospital, in Sterling Way, Edmonton, will start the workshop by talking about the dangers of smoking.

He said: "Unfortunately, for a long time tobacco was part of Turkish culture and even though fewer people are smoking in Turkey this fall has not been seen in the UK.

"Working in North Middlesex Hospital I see the damage that it cause – heart disease, breathing difficulties, Alzheimer's, cancer.

"These are serious health problems and cut lives short."

Smoking adviser Ufuc Genc will talk about what is already happening in the borough to help people quit.

There will be time for people taking part in the workshop to discuss how to increase work to stop people from starting to smoke, how they can stop and how to support others.

Nneka Keazor, the council's cabinet member for public health and sports, said: "Fewer and fewer people are smoking, both nationally and particularly in Enfield.

"Where people do smoke, it causes serious harm both to the smoker and those around them. I am therefore very pleased that work in Enfield to reduce prevalence has been successful.

"This conference will build on that success with the Turkish community, where progress, to date, has not been so rapid."

The conference is at Kirkisrak Community Centre, in Derby Road, Ponders End, from 4pm to 6pm.

Gridlock after double collision

TWO collisions on the main thoroughfare through the borough on Sunday evening saw traffic grind to a halt for hours.

Police were called by the London Ambulance Service to the corner of Lincoln Road and Great Cambridge Road at about 5.20pm to reports of a collision between a pedestrian and a car. A man was taken to hospital by ambulance with wrist injuries.

The driver stopped at the scene and no arrests were made.

The northbound carriageway of Great Cambridge Road was closed until 7.30pm.

Just as the northbound lanes were reopened, police were alerted to another collision on the southbound carriageway near the junction with Carterhatch Lane.

Police said they did not attend the collision which damaged a motorbike and a car.

MAYOR OF LONDON

Columnist

Monty Meth

Life president – Enfield Over-50s Forum

WE'VE now elected a new London mayor with all candidates promising to fix the housing crisis and make this great capital city safer and a better place to live in.

Yet I can't help thinking of that old song: "You made me promises, promises you knew you'd never keep. Promises, promises, why do I believe?"

No doubt election promises are made in good faith, but "events, my dear boy, events," as former Prime Minister Harold Macmillan once said, too often overtake the good intention.

Politicians offer their promises for a four or five-year term, but at a recent Over 50s Forum meeting we were discussing a new 15-year plan for Enfield – from 2017 to 2032.

The only sure thing about it is that I won't be around to judge its outcome.

The government demands all councils draw up a local plan, which in our case envisages Enfield's population growing to at least 400,000 by 2032 – from 275,000 in 2001.

Can you imagine the new homes, schools, jobs and health facilities this will need?

Council planners say we will need an extra 20 primary schools and 32 more secondary entry forms by 2029 for whom the council will have to find places, but the council are not allowed by this government to build the new schools to accommodate them.

If that seems bonkers, think about the number of new homes, teachers and GPs Enfield now needs. We need to make a start now, never mind about 2032.

Best feet forward to help beat breast cancer

LIKE many of your readers, I've had close family and friends affected by breast cancer.

That is why I'm encouraging everyone to take a step forward for women with breast cancer this summer and sign up to a Pink Ribbonwalk to raise vital funds for leading charity Breast Cancer Care.

With five, ten and 20-mile walks to choose from, you can get together with friends and family in some of the UK's most beautiful countryside and iconic cities, including: Blenheim Palace, in Oxfordshire; Poles-den Lacey, in Surrey; Chatsworth, in Derbyshire; Stourhead, in Wiltshire; London; and Glasgow.

I've taken part in five Pink Ribbonwalks now and it really is so much more than just a day out.

Sadly, every year, 60,000 people will receive the devastating news that they have breast cancer.

But with your help the charity can continue to offer them vital care, support and information, every day, from day one.

Also May is National Walking Month, so really there's no better time to lace up your boots and take a step forward for women with breast cancer.

You can sign up for a Ribbonwalk near you at www.breastcancercare.org.uk/ribbonwalk

Please join me and lend your support this summer.

Deprived of my right to vote for no reason

WE know of the mess-up in Barnet with lots of people being left off the electoral register. I suffered a similar problem in Enfield and I wonder if others had a similar experience.

I went to the polling station and was told I could not vote. So I went to the civic centre and was told they had sent me five letters, which I had not answered. Absolutely wrong. I received no letters about eligibility to vote.

They then told me something about the Department for Work and Pensions register. But voting is a right of all citizens and nothing to do with a government department.

It's not that the electoral authorities don't know where I live. I have lived at the same address for 11 years. I have been a councillor and mayor of Enfield. I'm not looking for special treatment, just the application of a little common sense.

I am writing to you to find out if any other people in Enfield had similar problems. If so, I hope that people in charge in the council will get the problem sorted out so that we can all have a vote in the referendum scheduled for June 23.

Jayne Buckland
Little Park Gardens, Enfield

Surely common sense is needed when dishing out littering fines

SO the borough has raked in £1.5million in five years in fines for those dropping litter – yes, but at a cost.

I read a report that a lady visitor to Enfield had an £80 immediate fine for carelessly dropping a cigarette end out side Town railway station (not a filthy banana skin or rotten bag of chips – a tiny cigarette end).

Now I am all for punishing extreme litter louts, but I am also in favour of some compassion and common sense.

Did this arrogant "litter inspector" ask the visitor to pick up the offending cigarette butt? No.

I wonder what that lady thinks of Enfield Council after this? Will she now stay away?

ME sufferers should not be ignored

I'M sure many of your readers will have experienced isolation at some point in their lives.

Sadly, many people with M.E. face isolation for years on end as friends, family and professionals struggle to accept the true impact of the illness.

Others live alone, too ill to keep up a social life.

For M.E. Awareness Month this May, Action for M.E. is sending a simple message: don't ignore M.E.

We're taking action to end the ignorance, injustice and neglect experienced by the 250,000 people with M.E. in the UK.

Historic station deserves better

IN response to Frank Farmer's letter ("It's yet another mess of local authority neglect", Advertiser, May 4), I would like to reply.

Yes, it is disgraceful that it is so neglected, but the problem does not stop there.

Southgate Tube station is graded with a two-star listing by Historic England, one of only six Underground stations in London, and deserves better.

The station frontage is a mess and disgracefully filthy with litter, chewing gum and clutter.

I have noticed that the one active voice trying to improve the area is Southgate District Civic Trust.

I am sure they would be happy to cooperate with anyone who wishes to improve the environment.

Dog sniffs out big haul of fake cigs

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A SNIFFER dog detected thousands of illicit cigarettes stashed behind two fake walls and a locked metal door during a swoop by licensing enforcement officers.

Enfield Food Store, in Hertford Road, Ponders End, has had its licence revoked following "one of the biggest seizures of tobacco ever made from an off-licence in Enfield".

The latest revocation is the third time that the premises has lost its licence.

Officers first visited the premises in October last year and found nine packets of non-duty-paid hand-rolling tobacco and 40 packets of cigarettes hidden under a butcher's chopping board.

They also found that 13 licence conditions had been breached.

The owner was issued with a warning letter two weeks later and a voluntary declaration was signed by the premises licence holder confirming he had carried out checks and no non-duty-paid products remained.

But last November, customs officers seized 74 bottles of non-duty-paid bitter and on December 21 licensing enforcement officers found more than 4,500 packets of non-duty-paid cigarettes and 35 packets of hand-rolling tobacco stashed behind two fake walls and a locked metal door of a toilet.

Daniel Anderson Enfield Council's cabinet member for environment said: "The last seizure alone, accounting for just cigarettes and alcohol, amounted to a staggering £24,244.37 in tax evasion.

"This was tax evasion on an industrial scale.

Nosing around: The cigarettes were uncovered by a sniffer dog, similar to the Springer Spaniel pictured above

The lengths that the premises owners went to conceal this tobacco shows that they knew what they were doing was illegal.

"This is one of the biggest seizures of tobacco ever made from an off-licence in Enfield.

"The premises owners repeatedly showed a flagrant disregard for the law and actively worked to undermine our efforts to license premises in the borough.

"I understand that under the previous licence holder tobacco was concealed in a chest of drawers with false bottoms under which the cigarettes were hidden.

"The time and effort that must have gone into building the various storage containers in which items have been concealed shows that this is obviously a large-scale operation taken very seriously."

Chijindu gets set for Rio

AN Enfield student could be on course for selection by Team GB for the Rio Olympic Games after cruising to a comfortable victory in an intra-university athletics meeting.

Chijindu Ujah, 22, of Ponders End, is a second-year student of sport science at Middlesex University and last weekend he set a new British Universities & Colleges Sport 100metres record in Bedford with a win in the final in a time of 10.32seconds.

He grew up in Brimsdown and when he was studying for GCSEs at Bishop Stopford school, in Brick Lane, Enfield, at the age of 16 he set a new schools record for the 100m of 11 seconds.

"When I was a teenager, I would go down to the Lea Valley Athletic Centre after school and train and it was on one of these sessions that someone from Enfield and Haringey Athletic Club noticed me and said I should start seriously training with them," he told the Advertiser.

Two years ago in 2014 Chijindu became only the fifth British man to go under the 10-second barrier – a 100m benchmark – at a meeting in the Dutch town of Hengelo when he was aged 20.

For Chijindu, the university championships are just the beginning of his season and he is aiming to peak around June 23 when the British trials are held for Rio.

"At the moment, working with my coach, I have quite a heavy training load and as we get closer to the trials I will be tapering off so that I can perform as well as possible at the selections," he said.

Team GB will select three 100m sprinters next month for the Olympics, as well as a relay squad.

Chijindu has his sights set on selection, but at the moment he is concentrating on doing well in competitions which mark the beginning of the athletics season.

"I will be on the international circuit now and focusing on doing well in meets in Europe," he said.

And with the pressures of coursework and classes, are his teachers understanding about his training regime?

"I let them know when I am away at competitions and we schedule the work load around that," he added. "They are sympathetic."

Front runner: Sprinter Chijindu Ujah is hoping to be part of Team GB in Rio this summer

Campaigning parents protest over decision to close down pre school

By Clare Casey
newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

LIVID parents are fighting to save their children's pre school after being told it will close this summer.

Carterhatch Pre School caters for children from the age of three and is funded by the government.

Parents were informed last week of its imminent closure and have mounted a fierce campaign, lobbying at the school gates, in Bell Lane, Enfield Wash, and signing petitions to try and save it.

They say with its closure they are stuck with no option as all the places at nearby schools have already been allocated for September this year.

Sherrie Thomas, of Redlands Road, said: "We are absolutely livid. My first thought was for the wonderful staff who work there and then for the parents."

"They have given us no notice and it's all done and dusted. There's no consultation, it's just been decided."

"My daughter Kali, nine, went there from the age of 18 months when it used to be part private and now my daughter Nia, three, goes there. My husband Darren, was diagnosed with stage 4 bowel cancer two years ago and they have helped me no end, not just with the girls' care but asking how I was. The staff are like family to us."

Enfield Council said it was not its decision, but that of Carterhatch Infant School, which runs the pre school.

A council spokesman told the Advertiser: "The decision to close the pre school was taken by Carterhatch Infant School. We appreciate that this has caused considerable distress among parents and we are currently seeking to identify alternative provision nearby for every child currently attending the pre school."

"The council is extending the deadline for parents who missed the original deadline so they can apply for pre school places elsewhere in the borough. We are also opening a specialist pre school for children with special educational needs on the site and will be writing to all parents affected by this closure."

Carterhatch Infant School declined to comment.

Leading the fight: Delroy Frazer, centre, who has set up a petition, outside the pre school, with Carole Koc and "BJ"

It was always our aim to create a traditional British butchers shop with a modern feel. Today, we have two busy, vibrant shops; Meat N16, Stoke Newington and Meat NW5, Tufnell Park.

We offer a full selection of Free Range British meat. Beef from Speyside in Scotland, Lamb from Devon and Cornwall, Pork from the South Downs and Poultry from Essex. Our Sausages and Burgers are made in-house and vary weekly. During the Game Season we have a full selection of feathered and furred game from the Yorkshire Moors. With the summer months upon us, we have an endless selection of treats for the BBQ. Our Team of top quality Butchers prepare the meat to our customer's specification and are always ready with tips on getting the best out of the cut or joint, cooking times and methods and a good ear for those who have questions or tales.

Our Deli counter carries a selection of English and international cooked and Air cured Hams, Savoury Pies, Pork Pies, Sausage Rolls, Scotch Eggs, Salami and so much more.

From Friday 13th May we will be bringing our finest products and Team to Enfield Market. There will be no compromise on the diversity or quality of our product, and our Team are bursting to integrate with the fantastic traders already in place and the customers who frequent the market.

Sarah despairs at bug-infested flat

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A WOMAN whose house is infested by bugs is begging housing chiefs to end her misery and step in to repair her damp-riddled home.

Sarah Curtis, of Welch House, in Beaconsfield Road, Enfield Lock, is living in a council flat riddled with damp and pests, which, she says, are exacerbating her health issues.

"Last night I was sweeping my floor and the silverfish just seemed to be coming out of everywhere," she told the Advertiser.

"I was stamping on loads of them, but they just kept coming. I took a bowl out of my cupboard and it had silverfish in it.

"I've bleached my cupboards, I am constantly washing everything, it's just too much."

"I just want someone to do something to help, instead of fobbing me off all the time, just someone deal with it and sort it out."

Pointing towards bubbles of damp and mouldy paint in her kitchen and living room, Ms Curtis said that workers contracted by the council had painted the walls just recently, but that within weeks of the job being finished, the damp seemed to rise up the walls from the floor.

"I just want to be able to live in my home," she said.

"The doctor said these problems could be making my emphysema worse – but no matter what I just can't seem to even get anyone to answer the phone."

She believes that part of the problem could involve the cut-backs and staff reductions which the council has had to make in recent years, meaning the housing team are stretched too thin to deal with the issues affecting her health.

"No matter how many times I call, I am just fobbed off with another excuse," she added.

An Enfield Council spokesman said: "We are taking Ms Curtis' complaints seriously. We are looking into it and we hope to have a resolution soon."

Time for action: Chase ward councillor Nick Dines

Council urged to do more to help refugees

'Excuses are no longer good enough'

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A TORY councillor is calling on the local authority to do more to help house Syrian refugees fleeing the war-torn country.

Nick Dines, a Conservative councillor for Chase ward, has slammed Enfield Council for not doing enough to help children and families displaced by the war in the Middle East.

He says that other boroughs in the capital have "stepped up" and taken in Syrian refugees.

"While Syrian refugees are fleeing their homes in the face of the most horrific circumstances, it is unbelievable that some London councils and the London Assembly are spending months haggling with the government about costs," he told the Advertiser.

"No doubt everyone involved will blame each other but excuses are no longer good enough."

Mr Dines said that while referring to the plight of refugees as "desperate" and pledging their support last September – Labour councillors had failed to take action to help.

However, in the face of the councillor's attacks, Doug Taylor, the leader of the council, has said that "Enfield stands ready to assist when called on."

He added: "While Enfield Council is committed to helping with the national response to the crisis as outlined in the resolution we passed in October 2015, we are awaiting the outcome of discussions between the government and the Mayor's Office/London Councils that will determine a pan-London offer for participation in the Syrian Refugee Resettlement Programme."

"We expect to receive guidance from City Hall and London Councils in the very near future outlining how a pan-London resettlement programme would work, be structured and be funded."

Library refurbishments under way prior to arrival of voluntary groups

By Clare Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

REFURBISHMENT of two libraries starts today (Wednesday) before voluntary and community sector organisations move in.

The makeovers, which form part of Enfield Council's strategy to keep libraries open despite government cuts, will pave the way for residents across the borough "to be able to access more services at their local library than ever before", said a spokesman for the council.

Ponders End Library closed on Monday and will reopen on Monday, May 23, after work to provide new facilities for Age UK has been carried out.

The charity will move into part of the building, in College Court, High Street, Ponders End, and share responsibility for running it.

Enfield Highway Library also closed on Monday with a proposed re-opening date of Monday, August 1, while the building is prepared for a public health services hub to move in.

Ayfer Orhan, cabinet member for education, children's services and protection, said: "We are committed to providing a first-rate library service and despite significant spending cuts from central government we have found an innovative and effective way of providing a comprehensive library service which meets the needs of Enfield residents and means we have managed to retain more libraries than any other London borough.

"This approach means we are working in partnership with reputable and credible partners to bring vital community services that people rely on into our library buildings while retaining libraries in all of our neighbourhoods."

Following the restructuring, the council specified the four biggest and most popular libraries in the borough – Enfield Town, Edmonton Green, Palmers Green and Ordnance Unity Library – as hub/flagship libraries, delivering a wide range of services alongside community based activities.

Other partners who are set to work with the council to help provide library services will include schools and children's centres as well as Barnet and Southgate College and Millfield Theatre, in Edmonton commercial lets are being considered for some sites.

Work under way: Refurbishment of the libraries in Enfield Highway and, left, Ponders End, starts this week

Support group to help parents is going from strength to strength

Numbers grow to 300 in six years as panel prepares bid for charity status

By Clare Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A SUPPORT group that began with just two parents six years ago is preparing to become a fully fledged charity.

Enfield's Parent Engagement Panel (PEP), which was set up by Enfield Council, now has a 300-strong membership.

The panel's swift success means it has been able to register as a company with Companies House and it has appointed a board of trustees as well as submitting registration documents to the Charity Commission for England and Wales.

Originally set up to support parents and improve the life chances for children in the borough, the PEP is now a growing and strong independent network, according to chairwoman of the trustees Norma Leon.

She said: "As a charity we will be able to raise funds, promote our work more widely across the borough and offer more training to parents."

"PEP members already advise and direct parents to local services. Through professional training they learn how to support and represent their community. With charitable status we can plan and do so much more – and members of our network are very determined."

It has 80 trained "parent champions", who spread the word about the PEP and its work. They visit schools, give talks to young people, meet teachers and develop their own learning opportunities to build their knowledge.

PEP meetings take place every six months to increase the scope of its work such as the Family and Adolescent Support Hub, that supports the parents of teenagers, and the Antenatal Project, providing advice and information to prospective parents.

Enfield's outgoing mayor Patricia Ekechi invited 30 members of the PEP to a reception at Enfield Civic Centre to celebrate their work and plans for charity status.

She said: "As a PEP member myself I am so proud to be involved. The PEP was originally developed by Enfield Council as a self-help group of volunteers keen to be trained in order to support other parents and their children. It has grown into a magnificent organisation where parents are seizing the opportunities that it offers."

Parents who would like to find out about becoming a member can email pep@enfield.gov.uk

GREEN'S

STEAKHOUSE & GRILL

52 High Street, Southgate, London N14 6EB 0208 882 8833

We first wrote about Green's back in 2013 when they opened their first site in local, leafy Southgate. We knew that they would be the one to watch as their ethos of good, non-frozen, locally produced food which includes some excellent burgers, stakes ribs and cocktails was a winning combination! Three years down the line and Green's is still as popular as ever especially with the addition of their gourmet roast Sunday lunch which include giant home-made Yorkshire puddings, duck fat roast with potatoes and steamed seasonal veg and all for just £12.99 (kids £5.95) which runs every Sunday from 12 PM till 4 PM, (Green's closing for one hour and opening again at 5 PM with their burgers and steaks menu). In February Green's exhibited at the Franchise Show at Excel London. Just four weeks after the show and Chinese investment company Shanghai Q-Y Trading purchased the master license to open Green's restaurants across China starting with Hong Kong and Shanghai. Green's has also secured franchises in Reading and South London. We wish Green's all the success in the near future and we are proud to say that Green's Steakhouse & Grill started in our borough first!

Back to their roots:
Chas and Dave

A good old knees-up!

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

COCKNEY knees-up merchants Chas and Dave return to their old stomping ground this Friday.

Arguably Enfield's greatest gift to popular culture, they bring their familiar blend of music-hall rock 'n' roll and boogie woogie to Millfield Theatre on Friday.

Chas, born and bred in Edmonton, and Dave, who hails from Ponders End, are no strangers to the venue, in Silver Street, Edmonton.

They have performed there on numerous occasions in a career spanning more than 50 years.

The duo's "Rockney" sound and corblimey mix of comic songs has made them national treasures.

With a string of hits in the 1980s including Gertcha, The Sideboard Song (the one that goes: "I don't care, I don't care, I don't care, if he comes round here"), Rabbit, Ain't No Pleasing You; Margate; London Girls; and Snooker Loopy, they are as popular today as they were then.

Their live show features a mix of vintage rock 'n' roll and skiffle songs – which they started out playing in the 1960s – plus all the old favourites.

It includes the self-penned Edmonton Green, a homage to the place where they grew up.

It is a moving lament for a long-gone "rough old gaff" that "still meant a lot to the locals", Chas explained.

The duo's enduring appeal has seen them attract a whole new generation of fans in recent years, with several appearances at the Glastonbury Festival under their belts.

"We have really gained a young following and there seems to be more young people in the crowd than our age group these days," said Chas.

"We take the audience back 40 years by retuning to our roots with a collection of early R&B, skiffle and rock 'n' roll classics, while in the second half of the show we perform all our hits," he added.

Birds of a feather flock together

THE ANGRY BIRDS MOVIE (U, 97 mins)

STRIP back the pristine visuals, which were once meticulously hand-drawn, and most animated films are hard-wired with an important life lesson to cherish once the end credits roll.

The Lion King: you can't run away from your responsibilities; Beauty And The Beast: don't judge someone by their appearance; Frozen: don't let naysayers hold you back from chasing your dreams; Inside Out: feeling sad is a natural part of growing up; Monsters, Inc.: mummy fibbed when she said the scary creature under your bed isn't real.

The Angry Birds Movie, a feature-length animated spin-off from the fiendishly addictive smartphone games, tears out a new page from the self-help manual – it's OK to get mad as long as you can channel that aggression in a positive direction.

The central character of Clay Kaytis and Fergal Reilly's film certainly spits feathers in the pursuit of a greater good.

Screenwriter Jon Vitti peppers this hap-hazard, but energetic flight of self-discovery with a barrage of dreadful puns and dad jokes that will inspire as many groans as giggles.

Thus, one anger-management therapist bird proudly advertises herself as a free-range chicken, pigs aspire to wear Calvin Swine underwear and a poster advertises Kevin Bacons return to the stage in...Hamlet.

Red (voiced by Jason Sudeikis) is an out-cast on Bird Island, where the rest of his flightless flock tweet peace and harmony.

An unfortunate incident with an unhatched egg lands Red in court, where Judge Peckinpah (Keegan-Michael Key) sentences him to a course in anger management led by perky clucker Matilda (Maya Rudolph).

Fellow attendees include wise-cracking livewire Chuck (Josh Gad), who can move at superbird speed, the aptly-named Bomb (Danny McBride), who self-combusts when surprised or stressed, and hulking Terence (Sean Penn), who communicates in booming growls.

Red resists Matilda's techniques because, as he reminds his brethren,

"We're descended from dinosaurs. We're not supposed to be nice."

When a ship full of pigs led by smooth talker Leonard (Bill Hader) arrives on Bird Island, supposedly in peace, Red is the only inhabitant to sense impending disaster.

Other birds fail to heed his warnings and when his doom-laden prophecy comes to pass, Red joins forces with Chuck and Bomb to locate the island's mysterious protector, Mighty Eagle (Peter Dinklage).

The Angry Birds Movie is a glossy promo for the games and associated merchanddise, showcasing the different birds and their associated powers, but it's also a lot of fun so long as you ignore the flimsy and predictable plot.

Animation quality doesn't soar to the dizzy heights of Pixar, but co-directors Kaytis and Reilly maintain a brisk pace and the screen shimmers with bright colours.

Vocal performances are solid and Demi Lovato's cover version of the Gloria Gaynor discoball classic I Will Survive flaps up the feel-good factor.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

- (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
- (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
- (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category

All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies.

However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

Dear Susan

We knew you'd like to see this article in The Advertiser about your old school and a reunion they are planning.

Although you're far away did you know you can view the newspaper online via the digital edition at any time of the week?

There are often articles about the very area you grew up in and people you may know.

We can keep sending the paper to you but this seems such a simple and convenient way to stay in touch with all the news from where you grew up.

Love to all, Mum xxx

KANE TARGETS SECOND PLACE

By Dominique Stafford

HARRY KANE admits that it will be a huge disappointment to Tottenham Hotspur if they fail to secure runners-up spot in the Premier League and end up slipping below bitter rivals Arsenal to finish in third position.

Having seen their title hopes come to an end with a draw at Chelsea on Monday last week, Spurs then fell to a 2-1 defeat at home to Southampton on Sunday – leaving them with just two points from their last three matches.

Although other results over the weekend ensured that Tottenham have now secured automatic qualification for the group stages of next season's Champions League, their slump in form has left them in danger of finishing below Arsenal for a 21st successive year if they lose at Newcastle on Sunday.

And striker Kane, who is one goal ahead of Leicester's Jamie Vardy in the race for the golden boot heading into the last day of the season, is urging the side to get the positive result they need this weekend to ensure they do come second and finally end above their fiercest rivals.

"We want to finish second," he said. "It is in our hands. We have got to win our game and the job will be done. That is our aim. Finishing third would be a blow.

"It would be good for the fans to have bragging rights for the first time in a long time. Finishing above Arsenal is not something we focus on at the start of the season, but now we are here it would be good.

"We know what it means to the fans. We haven't won the title but there is still a lot to play for. We go to Newcastle and we are still backing ourselves to win that game."

It initially looked as if Tottenham would put the disappointment of the Chelsea result behind them as Heung-Min Son opened the scoring against Southampton.

But, for the third match in a row, Spurs were unable to hold on to the lead and two Steven Davis goals gave the visitors all three points.

Head coach Mauricio Pochettino said: "One more time I think we were the better team and created more chances, but in football you need to kill the game. You need to show more consistency, and we've had a lack of consistency in our last few games.

"Southampton were a dangerous opponent for us. They are a good team with good players, but we feel disappointed with the way we conceded.

"We have to keep fighting to keep our position in the table. The last three games with two draws and a defeat, you can see it's been tough for us."

Skolars are beaten by league leaders

THE London Skolars saw their four-match winning streak in rugby league's Kingstone Press Championship One come to an end on Sunday as they suffered a 40-12 defeat at table-topping Rochdale Hornets.

The visitors were always likely to face a tough task against a side who are still unbeaten in the league this season, but they started the match in positive fashion and deservedly took the lead on 13 minutes when Lameck Juma barged his way over the line for a try which Mike Bishay converted.

However, Rochdale hit back and tries from Jordan Case and Paul Crook, both of which were converted by Crook, saw them move 12-6 ahead by the interval.

Alex McClurg further extended the hosts' advantage by touching down for a converted score six minutes after the restart, but the Skolars refused to lie down and Kazeem Faturoti-Edwards' try – again converted by Bishay – brought them back within six points heading into the final 20 minutes.

But the hosts suddenly took complete control of the contest as it headed towards its conclusion, running in a succession of tries to end up as emphatic winners.

Jono Smith touched down twice in the space of three minutes, before Wayne English and Chris Riley also crossed the line to condemn the Skolars to an undeservedly heavy defeat. Crook added a further three conversions.

The London Skolars host Newcastle Thunder on Saturday (3pm).

North Middlesex edge to victory as cricket season starts

NORTH MIDDLESEX made a triumphant start to their season in the Premier Division of the Middlesex County Cricket League as they edged to a 22-run win in a low-scoring match at home to Hampstead on Saturday.

The hosts got off to a dreadful start after being put in to bat as they lost two wickets before scoring their first run, and they continued to struggle throughout the innings as Hampstead struck at regular intervals.

Rob Fahrenheim (23) and Tom Nicoll (22) were the main contributors as they eventually posted a total of 145, with Ragheb Aga (3-26) and Steve Clark (3-32) proving to be the most successful bowlers.

However, the visitors also struggled with the bat in reply and George Adair (44) was the only man to provide any real resistance in the face of some excellent bowling from North Middlesex, with Nicoll (3-12) leading the way in helping to dismiss Hampstead for 123.

Meanwhile, Hornsey and Highgate had contrasting fortunes in Division Two – with Hornsey crushing Brondesbury by 102 runs and Highgate losing by 15 runs against Indian Gymkhana.

Jamie Harris and Sean Solia both made 76 as Hornsey posted an impressive total of 254-7 from their 45 overs, before Jonathan Fawcett (4-26) and Paul Weekes (3-24) played the key roles with the ball in helping to dismiss Brondesbury for 152.

But an excellent innings of 61 from Syed Muazam Ali and 47 from Christopher Arul could not prevent Highgate from being bowled out for 241 in reply to Indian Gymkhana's 256-8 in their match.

Elsewhere, North London were crushed by nine wickets at Osterley in Division Three, being dismissed for just 99 before seeing their hosts romp to 101-1 in reply.

North Middlesex go to Eastcote on Saturday, while Hornsey host Enfield, Highgate visit Harrow St Mary's and North London entertain Bessborough.
